Indian Stainless Steel Development Association: The Indian Stainless Steel Development Association (ISSDA) is an apex body representing the stainless steel industry in India. Founded in 1989 by leading Stainless Steel producers, the Indian Stainless Steel Development Association has served as the focal point for the development of the national stainless steel industry. ISSDA has been undertaking programmes and workshops with an objective of creating awareness about stainless steel as well as introducing newer application of stainless steel for sustainable development. ISSDA is also in the forefront of taking up issues which help in creating sustainable solutions by using stainless steel in various walks of life and thereby improving the quality of living.

Nickel Institute: Nickel Institute is the global association of the world's primary nickel producers who together account for approximately 85% of worldwide annual nickel production outside China. Our mission is to promote and support the use of nickel in appropriate applications. NI grows and supports markets for new and existing nickel applications including stainless steel; and promotes sound science, risk management, and socio-economic benefit as the basis for public policy and regulation.
